

I believe the speed and the DOCSIS standards should be regulated by the fcc. The consumer needs more uniform speeds and the cable companies are too slow in upgrading to Docsis 1.1 and 2.0. Countries like South Korea are farther ahead in broadband deployment because of regulation.